10 Tips: Price Better, Get Paid Faster

01 Price the job, not the hours

Customers buy outcomes. Quote the finished job; keep your hourly math private.

02 Always write it down

A one-page estimate beats a handshake every time a job goes sideways.

03 Line items build trust

Break out labor, materials, and extras. Itemized quotes get fewer "why so much?" calls.

04 Get a signature before you start

A signed estimate turns "I never agreed to that" into a non-conversation.

05 Take a deposit on big jobs

30-50% up front on anything with real material costs. Serious customers never balk.

06 Invoice the day you finish

Same-day invoices get paid roughly twice as fast as end-of-month batches.

07 Make paying stupid-easy

Card links get you paid in days. Checks get you paid in weeks. Offer both, push the link.

08 Late fee on every invoice

Even if you never charge it, "1.5%/mo after 30 days" moves you up the payment pile.

09 Track every hour and material

You cannot fix the price of the next job if you never learned the cost of the last one.

10 Raise prices once a year

Your suppliers do. A 5% bump loses almost no customers and is pure margin.
